

Join the Spanish classes at Finca La Maya in San Carlos

The best way to appreciate living in a new culture is to be a real part of it!

Let's face it: if you don't understand the language spoken where you live, you going to be missing out on a lot!

Learning a new language can be challenging, but you'd be surprised at how well you can get by if you learn just a few of the basics. It is said that with a vocabulary of only two hundred words, most languages can be spoken well enough to at least make yourself understood. And an experienced teacher can help get you there fast.

Finca La Maya is delighted to welcome the esteemed Senora Marilyn Samaniego who was previously a teacher in University of Panama, who is now teaching two classes per week since January 2012.

Classes are held in La Maya's classroom facility in San Carlos on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, from 10 a.m. to noon (with a coffee break). Lessons are $4 per person, per class. All are welcome, especially beginners, so come join the fun...just show up!

For driving directions to Finca La Maya, please visit the website: www.fincalamaya.com .

Also:

Make a difference! Help the kids in our communities.

If you have a couple hours on Saturday mornings to come share with students in our free English, computer, and art classes, then you qualify! Fun is promised, no Spanish necessary! Just contact Starr at info@fin calamaya.com

or call 240-8281. Even better: just show up! Please visit the website for more information about La Maya's free Community Programs:

www.fincalamaya.com

Finca La Maya is a private charitable activity dedicated to "giving back" to Panama, by providing free courses in language, art and computer use for under-privileged children and families in our beach communities.

Please visit:

www.fincalamaya.com and the "Community Programs" link for more info.